Message from the President

Welcome to SLTA's Annual Convention

On behalf of the SLTA officers and board members, I welcome you to our 54th Annual Convention. After a year and a half of uncertainty with the COVID pandemic, we know you are anxious to connect with members from across the country for fellowship and quality industry related educational programs.

Our plans for you include valuable educational sessions with talented industry leaders. We will also take time to enjoy the beauty and culture of historic Charleston, South Carolina. Above all, we plan to celebrate the resiliency and strength of our association and its members. Take a moment to review the convention book for details on all the events. If you have questions, do not hesitate to contact our Executive Director Linda Alwood or me.

I am grateful to my Convention Chair, Lynn Hightower-Moore, and to all the volunteers who have worked on putting this convention together. I'd like to thank the SLTA Board of Directors as well as our members and sponsors for all their support during my presidency. Most of all, I want to thank our Executive Director, Linda Alwood, for being my partner and friend through the starts and stops, delays and pivots and SLTA firsts we have faced together during these crazy times. Linda, you are simply the best at what you do!

Gina Matthews, SLTA President
